ATTORNEY IS INDICTED BY GRAND JURORS

Three true bill were handed up by the August grand jury shortly after noon today.

Those indicted by the jury were Attorney Walter H. Katherman Jr., Littlestown R. 1, charged by Daniel R. Barnes, Littlestown, with fraudulent conversion; Clifford H. Sutton, New Oxford, charged by Earl J. Kaiser with forgery, and Arvey Kreglo May, Fairfield R. 1, charged by Bennie Lee Barber with aggravated assault and battery.

Harold Streitt, 804 Highland Ave., is foreman for the jury which resumed its deliberations at 1:30 this afternoon. Clair M. Arter, Hanover R. 1, was excused from duty as a juror.

CASE IS SETTLED

The court approved settlement in the trespass action brought for Theresa M. Small by C. P. Keefe, her guardian, and by Anna Mary Small against Stanley M. Starnes. All are of New Oxford. The matter was based on an accident in New Oxford June 18, 1961, when Theresa M. Small was struck while walking across the street by a car driven by Starnes. The settlement, which followed a hearing, provides $451 payment to physicians; $708.20 to the Hanover Hospital; $70.80 to Anna Mary Small and all costs of record in the case. The court stated it approved of the settlement because the testimony given did not show the driver clearly at fault in the accident.

A 1950 Pontiac sedan taken by liquor control officers when arresting a man for violation of the liquor laws was declared forfeited to the state.

A number of accounts were confirmed. Among them, the account of John Donmoyer and Mildred Newell, executors of the will of Jennie E. Donmoyer, late of Cumberland Twp., showed $127,167.38 for distribution. The account of Jane D. and Graham C. Lovejoy, executors of the will of Ethel C. Johns, late of Franklin Twp., showed $138,266.17 for distribution.

Crack Troops Get Lesson In Tactics From Red Viet Cong

By PETER ARNETT

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) —Hard-core Viet Cong guerrillas, following military tactics which won China and North Viet Nam for communism, have survived a massive government offensive in the southern swamplands.

For four days crack government troops, supported by U.S. Marine Corps helicopters, fighter planes and armored river craft, rolled across Ca Mau Peninsula seeking 2,000 Communist guerrillas who have turned it virtually into a little Communist state.

The government high command is arguing with American advisers over the tally of Viet Cong dead: The overnights claims 124, the Americans 60. The Viet Cong main body got away again.

HARKENS BRAINCHILD

The four-day operation was the brainchild of Gen. Paul D. Harkins, commander of U.S. forces in Viet Nam and Thailand. Harkins and his high command worked on the planning for three months and were highly optimistic when it got under way.

U.S. advisers now are thumbing ruefully through communist guerrilla textbooks which say, "When the enemy attacks retreat."

Communist guerrillas in Ca Mau, faced with an overwhelming government force, just disappeared into the mangrove swamps with their women and children.

AIDES ATTACKED

As exhausted government troops pulled out, the Reds applied another guerrilla law. "Attack when the enemy is tired."

Government columns moving out of the swamps met frequent ambushes but the Communist firepower came from inaccurate old muzzle loaders and shotguns. Government dead at operation's end totaled four.

Spotter aircraft hovering over the region early Sunday saw black-clad guerrilla patrols moving back into the blackened and devastated training camps and hamlets.

WILL DISBAND PTA IN LOCAL HIGH SCHOOL

There will be no Gettysburg High School Parent-Teacher Association for the coming school year, President Gerald Hagmayer announced today.

Hagmayer said that in response to two public appeals to parents of high school students asking that they contact him if they wished the PTA to continue only three persons showed any interest in meetings and activities during the coming year.

As a result, he said, a meeting of the officers and committee chairmen was held and it was decided to disband the organization for the present time.

If in later years an interest in formation of a new high school PTA is shown Hagmayer said he and the other officers will be "extremely happy to assist in the formation of the new organization."

TO DISTRIBUTE FUNDS

The decision to disband came after several years in which attendance at meetings and general interest in the organization had declined, according to the president's report.

Deciding that if a new high school PTA is formed it should not begin unless there is interest enough to raise funds, the officers decided to distribute the amount currently in the treasury between the junior high school library and the senior high school library. Hagmayer said the officers had discussed the possibility of turning the money over to the Band Parents for purchase of band uniforms, but decided that such distribution would aid only a portion of the high school students, while use of the money to purchase books for the libraries would "provide an opportunity for all of the students to benefit from the fund."

Hagmayer said that the actual distribution of the money between the two libraries will not take place for about two weeks in order to provide an opportunity for any member of the disbanded organization who opposes the proposed distribution to write Hagmayer, at his residence, Gettysburg R. 1, and make suggestions for other distribution.

GOODLING HAS NEW STAFFER

Congressman George A. Goodling Saturday announced the addition to his staff of Wayne Burg, York, to fill a vacancy left by the March 31 resignation of G. Maxwell Rohm, also of York.

Burg will be a field man working out of both the congressman's Washington and York offices, as was Rohm before he left to serve as advance man for Congressman William W. Scranton in his campaign for governor.

Burg has been doing substitute teaching in York and West York since his graduation last year from Shippensburg State College, where he majored in political science and played varsity football. He served as campaign manager for Robert A. Minnich in his unsuccessful attempt to win the Republican nomination for state senator in the May primary.

Goodling said he had been able to get along so far without a successor to Rohm because he has had the services in Washington this summer of a political intern from the University of Pennsylvania in the person of Carol Bloom, niece of Republican State Chairman George I. Bloom.

By CARL HARTMAN

Police on both sides hurled scores of tear gas grenades during the violent demonstrations. A Communist water cannon streamed for 20 minutes.

Huge slingshots fired the tear gas grenades from the Communist side.

USES LOUD SPEAKER

Honking cars appeared near Checkpoint Charlie, at U.S. headquarters and at Bernauerstrasse

Mother, 2 Sons Perish In Fire

ERIE, Pa. (AP) — A 29-year-old mother and her two small sons perished in a fire that destroyed their frame home early today on Wattsburg Rd. six miles south of Erie.

WENK IS FINED $50 FOR LETTER TO JUDGE HERE

A letter written by Menallen Twp. Supervisor Donald G. Wenk Aspers R. 1, to Judge W. C. Sheely on June 13 cost Wenk a $50 fine and the costs of a contempt of court proceedings this morning.

Wenk wrote the court June 13 concerning an equity action brought by Mr. and Mrs. Donald R. Black against Mr. and Mrs. Robert C. Lott over the closing of a road through Lott property in Menallen Twp.

Wenk who had been a witness at the hearing in the equity action wrote the court a letter containing various "information" concerning the road in question. He concluded by saying that "to close this road would be a reproach on the integrity of the older generation, who saw this road as an important link in the history of their community," and then added, "As a representative of the government of Menallen Twp. I believe it would cause a rise of indignation among our citizens against the court, Mr. Lott and all his associates."

"INNOCENT ACTION"

After receiving the letter the court issued a citation on Wenk to appear today to show cause why he should not be found in contempt of court.

This morning, represented by Attorney John A. MacPhail, while Attorney S. M. Raffensperger represented the court, presented a prepared statement saying that he had been unfamiliar with court procedures, had never been in court in any capacity other than a witness; had believed that he had additional information that the court should know and innocently adopted the method of writing a letter to the court concerning his information.

In finding Wenk guilty of contempt and imposing the fine and costs, Judge Sheely said, "We recognize that you probably did not mean to commit an offense, but it cannot be overlooked that you did commit contempt of court. And we must let the public know that the court cannot be intimidated or interfered with in its conduct of the work of the court."

EXPLAINS SERIOUSNESS

"The law is very definite concerning this. Very recently the Supreme Court revised the decision of a jury because the judge had walked into the jury room to bring a pitcher of ice water to the jury. He did not even speak to them. The law is very zealous that each man have a fair trial and that he has the right to face his accusers and cross examine them, and bring in testimony to refute their statements if he can. In this case the judges were sitting in place of the jury in an equity action. If the judges had taken the information you gave in your letter certainly they would have taken into consideration state-

ENOLA SNYDER DIES SUNDAY

Mrs. Enola F. Snyder, 78, for whom the West Shore railroad community of Enola was named, died Sunday at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Fred Schaeffer, Camp Hill.

Mrs. Snyder had made her home with her daughter since last February when her husband, Frank E. Snyder, died — also at the age of 78. Prior to then, the couple had lived on a 34-acre farm in Camp Hill R.D., for 52 years.

In the early 1880's, Mrs. Snyder's father, Wesley G. Miller, bought a large tract of land on the West Shore of the Susquehanna River and built the family home there. The Northern Central Railroad, which owned the line in that area, set up a flag station and siding in 1888, obtaining a strip of land from Mrs. Snyder's father for that purpose.

The railroad gave him the privilege of naming the little station, and he chose "Enola" in honor of his four-year-old daughter.

TOWN TOOK NAME

Later, the Pennsylvania Railroad purchased 100 acres of the Miller tract and in 1905 the present huge freight yard was opened. The name "Enola" carried over to the yard, and when scores of company houses began to spring up, the community itself became known as "Enola."

In addition to her daughter, Mrs. Enola Snyder is survived by four sons, Paul Snyder, Lewisberry; Wesley Snyder, New Cumberland Mtd. Rt.; Lee Snyder, New Cumberland, and Glenn Snyder, East Berlin R. 1; a brother, Charles F. Miller, Enola; six grandchildren and four great-grandchildren.

Services will be held at 2 p.m. Wednesday at the funeral home at 408 Third St., New Cumberland. The Rev. Charles C. Brown, pastor of Eberly's Mills Church of God, will officiate assisted by the Rev. Jack Hoffman, pastor of Mt. Zion Lutheran Church, near Ltsburg.

Burial will be in Mt. Olivet Cemetery. Friends may call after 7 p.m. Tuesday at the funeral home.

ments which the defendants did not know had been presented and thus he could not defend himself against them. Thus he would not have a fair trial. And if the court had taken your statements as fact, what if they had been wrong? Then the whole decision would be in error.

"What you wrote was mostly hearsay evidence. You believed that what you told was correct, but what if what was told was wrong? That is why no information other than what is given in court can be considered. Only in that way can there be a fair trial. And incidentally because such evidence is unable to be tested, hearsay evidence is not receivable in court.

"If you had only written facts then perhaps we could have ignored it, but when you noted that the court would be subject to the anger of the people unless it decided one certain way, that you wrote was in effect a threat. And that could be ignored. Incidentally, the courts frequently have to make decisions that may produce anger. The court must decide the facts and law regardless where the chips fall and who gets angry. That is the very purpose of a court."

19 TRAINS HAD MOVED SAFELY ON DEATH RAIL

By FRED WALTERS

HARRISBURG (AP)—Nineteen trains had proceeded safely over the stretch of track where a Pennsylvania Railroad baseball excursion train was wrecked July 28, a railroad official said today.

R. M. Douglas, Paoli, supervising operator of the railroad's Philadelphia region, listed the number of trains as the Interstate Commerce Commission and the Public Utility Commission opened a joint hearing on the wreck which claimed 19 lives.

The section of track where the derailment occurred had been repaired only 24 hours earlier.

PUC TRANSCRIPT

At the start of hearing, the PUC released a transcript of testimony taken from railroad employees earlier this month.

This included testimony by R. D. Fritz, Shippensburg R. 1, a foreman of the maintenance crew who had been working in the spot at nearby Steelton where the wreck occurred.

As previously disclosed, Fritz had quit the previous day with only one-half the track anchored in place. It was the crew's intention to install the other anchors the following Monday.

His crew, Fritz said, left the scene about 20 to 25 minutes before quitting time. He had said under cross examination that it would have taken about five more minutes of work to complete installation of the anchors.

Fritz had added that it was normal procedure in his five years as a maintenance foreman to leave the installation of the track anchor over for completion on the next working day.

Douglas advised the hearing today that 15 passenger trains and four freight trains had proceeded over that section of track before the excursion, carrying baseball fans to a major league game in Philadelphia the day of the fateful trip.

Douglas disclosed property damage in the amount of $100,000 as a result of the wreck.

Besides the 19 passengers killed, PRR attorney Adelbert S. Schroeder reported 95 passengers, seven crewmen and two rescue workers were injured.

ICC Commissioner Donald P. McPherson of Gettysburg presided over the hearing. The ICC sent examiner Henry J. Vinskey to participate. The PUC was represented by Chairman Joseph Sharfstein and commissioners William F. O'Hara and John Dorris.

Counsel tables were crowded with attorneys and officials of the PUC, the ICC, the railroad and various railroad unions.

There was a scattering of spectators and witnesses in the hearing room.

BOY, 3, DROWNS IN YORK CREEK

Jamie Michael Howe, three, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert W. and Ruth Brown Howe, fell into Cabin Branch Creek, York County, at 2:30 o'clock during a family picnic Sunday afternoon and was drowned. His body was found 15 feet from the bank of the stream.

The Hanover boy was pronounced dead at the scene by York County Deputy Coroner Dr. Sydney Levy, Wrightsville.

No witnesses of the accident were found, State Trooper Paul J. Kury said.

Mrs. Howe, who was confined to a wheel chair, asked one of her children who was playing with Jamie where their brother was, and the child said he had heard a splash, a spokesman at Lake Clarke Boat club reported.

The mother then called for help across the creek where the boat club is located, meanwhile moving about the area in her chair, the spokesman said.

The boy's father was in a boat on the river at the time of the accident.

The body was found 15 feet from the bank of the stream, Kury said. The bank is two to three feet at a slight angle where the child fell, police added.

Demonstrations Saturday and Sunday morning were dampened by rain. Still the marchers, most of them young men and women, managed to break the windows of a Soviet bus and unfurl some anti-American banners.

Sunday afternoon the sun came out, bringing thousands of young people into the street. Stones and bottles shattered more Soviet bus windows. American cars and jeeps were jeered. Despite an official denial, eyewitnesses insisted that Americans were stoned, too.

SINGLE YOUTH SURVIVES AS 18 DIE IN BOAT

QUINCY, Fla. (AP)—"I didn't know what happened at first. I heard a couple of them yell out 'help me' and they all tried to grab hold of Mr. Bouie. I was by myself and when I came up out of the water I was by the boat and grabbed hold of it. I don't really remember much after that."

Those are the words of Jerome Maples, a small, shy 11-year-old who is the only survivor of a boating tragedy Saturday that took the lives of 17 children and their Sunday school superintendent, Joseph Bouie, 25. Seven of the children were from the same family.

Skin divers who recovered Bouie's body from Lake Talquin said one child was in his arms, another was on his back with arms clutched around his neck, a third held tightly around his waist and a fourth clung to one of his legs.

COMMUNITY MOURNS

The tragedy sent the St. John community, a tobacco growing area 25 miles west of Tallahassee, into mourning. The victims were from the Blessed Hope Missionary Baptist Church which suspended its Sunday service.

The drownings occurred during a church picnic outing attended by about 45 Negroes. Bouie was trying to give the children a ride in a 14-foot wooden boat with a 7½ horsepower engine. The stern of the boat dipped under the water and the occupants were tossed into the lake about 300 feet from shore.

Two white fishermen passing the scene rescued the Maples boy. There were other boats at the landing but nobody there knew how to operate them.

CEREMONIES IN ST. ALOYSIUS

The Rt. Rev. Msgr. Patrick F. McGee, pastor of the Annunciation of the Blessed Virgin Mary Church, McSherrystown, conducted the canonical ceremonies of installation of the Stations of the Cross of St. Aloysius Catholic Church Sunday evening. He was assisted by the Rev. Fr. Thomas F. Lawler, also of Annunciation Parish, and the pastor, the Rev. Dr. John E. Metz, Robert Miller was cross bearer for the ceremonies; James Long and Larry Altoff, acolytes; Harold Storm and Robert Altoff, incense and censor bearers; Ronald Redding, holy water bearer, and Gerald Altoff assisted the pastor.

The solemn ceremony was necessary for the Stations of the Cross, because they are new among other appearances in the redecorated church. Msgr. McGee first explained the devotion and the canonical ceremony.

Next Sunday, the church and the school will be officially rededicated at 4 p.m. His Excellency, the Most Rev. George L. Leech, bishop of Harrisburg, will be in charge of ceremonies on that occasion. He will celebrate the pontifical low mass in the church.

Members of the St. Vincent de Paul Society attended the 7 o'clock mass Sunday and received Communion in a body. Father Metz explained the work of this society, and the charitable acts performed. The newest project is providing transportation for the students of the parish attending Delone Catholic High School. On Sunday, September 2, the society will receive contributions from all members of the parish toward the purchase of a parish school bus. A brief meeting of the society followed the mass. It was announced that the annual reception of new members and Holy Name breakfast following the early mass, in the parish hall, will be held on Sunday, September 9. Father Lawler, who formerly served at St. Aloysius Church, will be guest speaker.

Daily mass will be in the convent chapel each morning this week at 7:30 a.m. Banns of matrimony were published for the third and last time at the late mass between Teresa Krichen, of the parish, and Ronald Eastman, of St. John Vianney, Grand Rapids, Mich. The wedding will be in the church at 9 a.m. on Saturday.

ONE HUNDRED YEARS AGO
Sunday School Pic-Nic At Bendersville: A union Sunday School Pic-Nic will be held at the grounds of the "Adams County Agricultural Society" on Saturday.

For the benefit of the respective schools in the way of purchasing books, etc., the following regulations have been adopted by the Committee of Arrangement: A Dinner will be provided for all such as are not direct contributors to the Pic-Nic, at a reasonable rate. Horse-feed will also be supplied. Any person may have the use of the Stalls, and the privilege of driving in the ring, by paying 25 cents. No huckstering will be allowed on or near the rounds but refreshments will be provided by the Managers. The Bendersville Brass Band will be in attendance. All the Stores will be closed and the Post-office from 12 M to 4 p.m. As the proceeds of this Pic-Nic will be applied solely to replenish the Libraries of the Sunday Schools of Bendersville, it is to be hoped that persons favorable to these institutions will turn out to lend a helping hand to so laudable an enterprise. The Managers will use their best endeavors to make a day of enjoyment to all who may be present. John Burkholder, Jacob Pitzer, Superintendents.

Fire: The dwelling of Mr. Adam Hartlaub, in Mountjoy township, was destroyed by fire on Sunday forenoon, with nearly all its contents, on which there was no insurance. The fire originated from using wood too long for the cook-stove — coals thus falling on the floor, and no person being present, the house was fired.

Capt. John F. McCreary left for Harrisburg on Wednesday morning with over 100 men — nearly all of whom were accepted and have been mustered in, as a full company.

Pennsylvania Heads The Column: On Saturday, the 124th and 126th Pennsylvania regiments, the first brigade of the new levy, marched over the long bridge at Washington into Virginia. The men are the finest yet seen in the war. As they moved along the avenue there was one continuous round of applause.

SEVENTY-FIVE YEARS AGO
Hail Storm: A severe hail storm swept over Bendersville last Saturday afternoon a week, doing great damage to the corn crop and the fruit.

The Gettysburg Zouaves, Capt. Norris, paraded the streets a few evenings since in their new and handsome uniform, and showed great proficiency in military exercises.

Sales: Andrew Lowe, Esq., has sold his property near Fairfield, consisting of 25 acres, with improvements to Wm. Walter for $2,700 cash. Daniel King has sold his house and lot in Fairfield to Jacob Firor for $800.

Mail Change: The P. O. Department has ordered a change in the mail route between Gettysburg and Hagerstown. After Monday next the mail will leave Gettysburg on Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday, returning on Monday, Wednesday and Friday.

P. T. Barnum's (Patent) Elastic Strap And Buckles For Pants, Vests And Drawers: This little invention is just out, and as it is no "humbug" is meeting with a rapid sale. It can be applied in a moment to any garment, by any person, causing it to fit perfectly. Its elasticity prevents tearing the straps and buckles of the clothes and also allows perfect freedom of the body while working or taking exercise. For sale by tailors and the trade generally. Send 25 cents for strap, circulars, terms to agents and the trade.

Today's Talk

OH, FOR ANOTHER MAN!

Somewhere I once came across these beautiful and very suggestive lines:

"O for a man to rise within me
That the man I am may cease to be."

I believe we all feel, at times, that even the best that we have built within us is losing hold and that we feel an inward loneliness that secretly calls for better support — another man to replace the old.

To be "twenty-one" again, or thirty — or something. Anyway to be something different than we are.

It is well. It is good. For in the very thinking, in the very desire, is born anew better determination and a finer resolve.

No forward man stands still. No traveler carries long at way posts. But it is of the greatest value in the building of character to pause quietly, on occasion, in order to gain new perspective!

There is little gain in rapidity. Rather is life's best a noble unfolding. Oliver Wendell Holmes in his beautiful "Chambered Nautilus" understood when he said: Let each new temple, nobler than the last,
Shut thee from heaven with a dome more vast,
Till thou at length art free. . . .

As a matter of practical fact, there is nothing so encouraging as to long for a new man, a very much wiser and better one to come from somewhere to take the place of the one you so much feel should go.

Just Folks

ARRIVALS AND DEPARTURES
Friends arrive, and all is laughter
Greetings warm and welcoming
Kisses,

What if partings come soon after?
There's no joy so real as this is.
Carry in the grips and cases!
Lightest task of all the summer.
Smiles of joy light all our faces
As we welcome every comer.

Friends arrive with shouts of gladness
As we hurry out to meet them.
Here's the cure for all life's sadness:
Stretch the table out to seat them!

This is how we feel about them:
Lonely, so we couldn't bear it,
This old place would be without them!
It is kept for friends to share it.

Friends depart! The hours are fleeting!
Done the laughter and the playing!
Where we gave a hearty greeting
Now a sad farewell we're saying.

Homeward bound, the visit ended,
Now our only thought, alas! is:
Thus with joy and sadness blended
Every year the summer passes.

CALIFORNIA EDITOR WINS NEW HONORS

WATERVILLE, Maine (AP) — New honor came today to an 85-year-old fighting California newspaperman—already twice honored for distinguished journalism since he challenged, last year, the activities of the John Birch Society, a militantly conservative group.

A committee, including noted newspapermen, now has named Santa Barbara publisher Thomas More Storke to be the 1962 recipient of an award given yearly by Colby College in memory of an alumnus, martyred editor Elijah Parish Lovejoy.

When shot to death in Alton, Ill. Nov. 7, 1837, Lovejoy was defending—against a mob—his newspaper plant and his right to publish truth as he saw it. He has been hailed as "America's first martyr to the freedom of the press."

OWNER AND EDITOR

Owner-editor of the Santa Barbara News-Press, Storke is dean of California publishers, having given 61 of his 85 years to running his newspaper.

The Colby College announcement noted that Storke last November received the Lauterbach Award given each year to an American newsman for outstanding work in the field of civil liberties. He was cited for "pointing out the dangers to American freedom created by extremists of the radical right."

In May this year, the Colby announcement also noted, he received the Pulitzer Prize for editorial writing—for calling attention to what his newspaper said was a "campaign of hate and vilification" by the John Birch Society.

STATES HIS BELIEF

Storke's News-Press, a daily of more than 31,000 circulation, is the lineal descendant of the little Santa Barbara Daily Independent, a paper he bought in 1901 and other newspapers acquired later.

Still working, six days a week, he continues his long-held belief that "a newspaper will not be listened to or win respect if it pusyfoots in stating its editorial beliefs."

Concerned when the influence of the John Birch Society began to show itself in Santa Barbara, he took the position that any organization seeking to influence American opinion should be exposed to the judgment of the public.

PERSONAL INCOME UP

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Commerce Department reports personal income in Pennsylvania last year was $25,933 billion, an increase of two per cent over 1960.

Per capita income rose only one per cent to $2,261.

Nationally, personal income climbed four per cent in 1961 to $14 billion.

BELLEFONTE, Pa. (AP)—The search continues for Kenneth Eugene Tressler, a 20-year-old inmate who walked away over the weekend from the dairy farm at Rockview State Penitentiary.

Tressler's absence was discovered at a roll call check Saturday, authorities said. The Bellefonte man had served one year of his 1½-3-year sentence for larceny.

Says Scranton Is Dark Horse For '64

WASHINGTON (AP)—Rep. William E. Miller, Republican national chairman, indicates he considers fellow congressman William Scranton a dark-horse candidate for the presidential nomination in 1964.

Miller, appearing Sunday on a recorded television program, called Scranton a "very attractive" candidate for governor of Pennsylvania.

"If Bill Scranton should be elected," he said, "I would think he would be an important figure in our party. . . ."

PUBLIC TAKES HAND IN STOCK MART STUDIES

By SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK (AP)—Economic statistics are fascinating a growing number of people these days. The next recession (when and if) will arrive after a flow of publicity that must be the envy of every Broadway press agent.

Pouring forth in ever greater volume from electronic computers, figures fashion the thinking and planning of businessmen, help set wage scales, send customers to the stores or keep them away, influence the setting of interest rates, determine stock trading decisions.

The making of charts has long been a preoccupation of many stock traders. They buy or sell when the figures reach a predetermined point (called a break-through) and seem to indicate a trend. And even if the bull or bear market doesn't materialize as the charts suggested, the number of traders acting upon the signals they give will have an immediate, if passing, effect on current stock prices.

Statistics gathered by the government to show the trend in the cost of living—although often attacked as inadequate—can raise (sometimes even lower) wage scales, tied to this index by labor contracts.

As economic statistics multiply and more economists study them for hints of future trends, businessmen pay more heed. Now the public is taking up the practice. Newspapers and magazines are full of forecasts based on the trends that some see in the statistics.

Congress is urged to react to them, or to wait for them. Consumer psychology is affected by the figures themselves, when once it followed actual personal experience.

"OVER SENSITIVE"
Just as buying or selling by chart followers can influence the stock market, so studying of economic statistics and acting on such guidelines may bring on a trend or accentuate it.

At least, that seems to be the

DIRECTOR SAYS CLEOPATRA TO BE GOOD MOVIE

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — "I feel like the man who wrote 'Our American Cousin,'" complained Joseph Mankiewicz, "Nobody ever talked about the play—only because some idiot with a pistol took a shot in President Lincoln's box."

Mankiewicz is the man who directed "Cleopatra," and everybody seemed to want to talk about something else besides the movie itself. Here to put the film in final shape, he seemed pleased and delighted when I asked about his own work on it.

"Well, it is coming along," he said. "Right now we are in the process of trying to put together the second half, and it is a monumental job. But I think it is going to be a remarkable film—not merely in its spectacle, but in the human relationships, too."

"It was a tremendous task to put together two complete love stories. Mr. Shaw wrote a play about one of them—'Caesar and Cleopatra,' and Mr. Shakespeare wrote a play about the other one—'Antony and Cleopatra.' I had to combine both in one film."

"I would be the megalomaniac of all megalomaniacs if I said view of William McChesney Martin, Federal Reserve Board chairman. In telling the House-Senate Economic Committee why he thinks another recession may be far from certain or imminent, he said:

"I sometimes wonder if we have not become overly sensitive to cyclical indicators. We read, watch, study and talk about them so much that we may have become like medical students who acquire each disease as they read about its symptoms in their textbooks."

MAY BE RIGHT
Martin was discussing the reliance placed by many of late on the so-called leading indicators among the business statistics. These include such things as stock prices, the average work week in manufacturing, new orders for durable goods, housing starts, corporate profits.

But businessmen—and the public—will go on watching the statistics and drawing conclusions from them. Many will do this who don't know how the figures are gathered, how much the margin for error. They will go on doing this even after past forecasts have proved wrong.

And, of course, on many occasions the statistics followers will turn out to be quite right.

that I thought I had accomplished what I wanted to do. But I think it will be a good movie, and the cost will be seen on the screen."

Oh, yes—the cost. It has been the subject of some discussions, such as how on earth can any movie cost a reported $30 million. HIGH COST EXPLAINED

"It's easy," explained the director. "The major reason for its costing so much is starting it before we were ready."

"It is hard to argue with men schooled on generations of movie-making clichés. They had Liz Taylor on salary, so they said: 'Let's get something on film.'"

"They don't realize that it is cheaper in the long run to keep Miss Taylor on salary while the script is being written and sets prepared. Instead, I have to work under the gun, and the company has to pay four times what a costume would ordinarily cost."

"OUT OF MONEY"
Is "Cleopatra" finally finished? "The company thinks so," he smiled. "I don't. Perhaps I am being over-anxious in wanting to do everything just right. I would like to go back and do some more, but they have a good reason why I shouldn't: They ran out of money."

The film will run four hours, he said, and will be shown in one sitting, despite his notion that it could be split into two $15 million movies. The company wouldn't go for it.

Everyone was hoping for a December release to qualify for Oscars. But that appears a physical impossibility. The release date is now expected to be February.

NOT IN HOLLYWOOD
Mankiewicz scoffed at suggestions that "Cleopatra" could have been made faster and more cheaply in Hollywood.

"It couldn't have been done here," he said. "How would you get 7,000 troops? How could you stage the Battle of Actium with real ships? I have as much regard for Hollywood's technical proficiency as anyone, but there are some things that are impossible to do here."

The director, who was famed for such films as "All About Eve" and "Letter to Three Wives," said he has had it with epics. "My next film will be shot against two walls—maybe one," he said.

In parting, he expressed his gratitude that I had asked no questions about THEM. Next time, I promised.

YANKS WALLOP A'S 21-7 WITH POWER DISPLAY

By BOB GREEN
Associated Press Sports Writer

Most every kid learns, at one time or another, that when you are playing with the big boys, you don't want to make 'em mad.

The old lesson was impressed on the Kansas City Athletics Sunday. The A's had the temerity to take two of three from the New York Yankees, the biggest kid on the block.

The Yankee retribution was swift, painful and a little humiliating.

GET 20 HITS

They punished the reeling A's with a 20-hit attack, including four doubles, two triples and four home runs, which adds to 40 total bases, in a 21-7 rout. It was the Yankees biggest offensive display of the season.

Mickey Mantle and Elston Howard were the chief tormentors of the A's, accounting for a whopping 15 runs batted in between them. The pair had three home runs, a triple, double and two singles and Mantle stole two bases.

Even with that awesome showing, however, the Yankees had to content themselves with the same leading margin, 4½ games, over the stubborn Los Angeles Angels. The Angels kept pace with a 5-2 verdict over Washington. Third-place Minnesota closed to within six games by sweeping two from Boston, 4-2 and 7-4. Baltimore beat Cleveland 6-5.

Detroit and the Chicago White Sox split a couple, the White Sox winning the first 11-5 and Detroit taking the second 8-3.

The Angels used a four-run burst after two were out in the sixth inning to beat Washington. A double by Albie Pearson and singles by Leon Wagner and Bob Rodgers got one. Felix Torres doubled in two more and scored the run on Jim Fregosi's single. Rookie Dean Chance (11-7) threw a solid five-hitter for the victory. Jim Kaat's five-hit pitching and Harmon Killebrew's hefty hitting were the keys to Minnesota's sweep over the Red Sox. Kaat's pitching kept Boston in check in the first game while Killebrew drove in four runs on a homer and double in the second. The homer was his 32nd, tying him with Detroit's Norm Cash for the league lead, and he took over the top spot in runs batted in with 91.

Charley Maxwell, one of baseball's best Sunday hitters, blasted a grand-slam homer and doubled in two more as the White Sox beat Detroit in the first of two. The Tigers' Billy Bruton matched the bases loaded blow in the second game as Detroit managed a split. The Tigers' Rocky Colavito had a homer in each game.

White Sox lefty Juan Pizarro, who started the second game, was clipped on his pitching hand by a line drive in the third inning. He suffered a compound dislocation of the ring finger and will be sidelined at least two weeks.

Two-run homers by Jim Gentile and Whitey Herzog and a bases-stop Woody Held featured Baltimore's triumph over the Indians. The homers had pulled the Orioles into a 4-4 tie in the sixth. Baltimore loaded the bases on singles by Gentile and Boog Powell and an intentional walk with two out when Held let Jackie Brandt's ground ball scoot between his legs scoring two runs.

A Lovelier You

By MARY SUE MILLER

GROOMING FOR TEENS. Have you ever thought, Miss Teen, that good grooming is next to loveliness? And that loveliness is next to datelessness? Better give the idea a whirl!

Not every girl child is born a breathtaking beauty, but every teen can become an attractive lovely. High grooming standards make it so.

Always neat and clean, from the top of her head to the tip of her toes, a girl looks nice to know. What's more she grows nicer to look at, day by day. For the grooming riles, in themselves, act like beauty treatments on the skin, hair and hands.

If that's for you, here's what to do! Copy the groomers, below, on a large sheet of paper. List them, one to a line, under the heading given. Also jot down the number of times each should be performed.

DAILY. Bath or shower — at least one; deodorant application — one or more; tooth brushing — four or more; hair brushing — one hundred strokes; face washings — three to four; application of skin-care product — bedtime; hand care — frequent scrubbing and lotioning; repairs to hair-do and make-up — before the need is apparent.

WEEKLY. Manicure and pedicure — one, with manicure touch-ups if necessary; shampoo and set — one or more; defuzzing, if required; wardrobe care — one thorough refurbishing session.

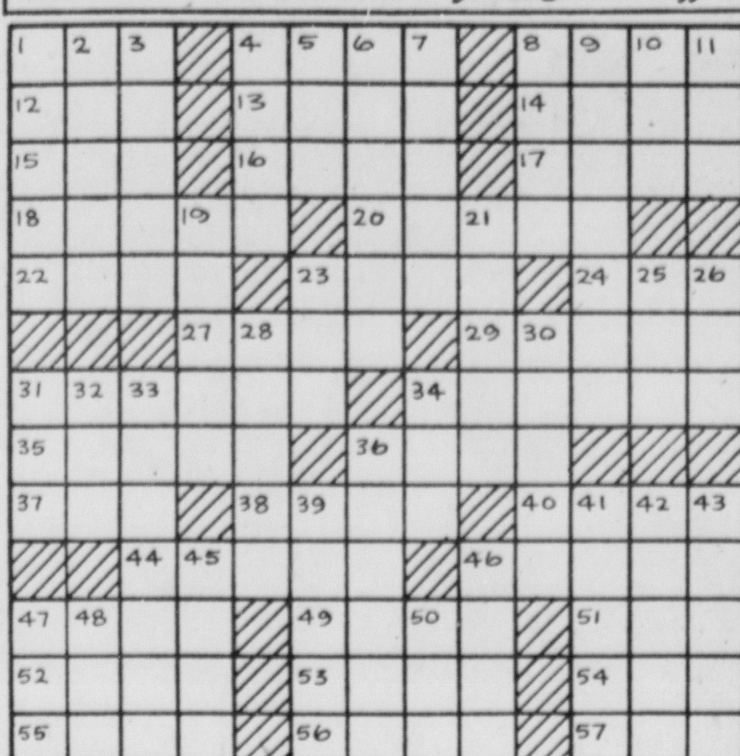

Now decide when you will perform each duty and jot it down beside each. Then let nothing short of disaster cause you to miss a date. A girl who fails to keep her grooming dates seldom has any other kind to keep.

YOUR GROOMING—A TO Z
Put aside your grooming doubts and worries! Send today for YOUR GROOMING—A to Z, a booklet that covers every step in achieving smooth looks. It tells how to manicure and pedicure, use deodorants and depilatories, bath for beauty, tend feet, hands, teeth and eyes, polish skin and hair, care for clothes, apply perfume, overcome personal posers. To obtain your copy, write Mary Sue Miller, Box 158, The Gettysburg Times, Dundee, Ill., enclosing a large, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 20¢ in coin.

Try To Stop Smallpox Epidemic On Boy's Trail

By ANDREW MEISELS
NEW YORK (AP)—Health officials of two nations worked against an awesome deadline today to find and vaccinate all persons who may have come in contact with a young Canadian smallpox victim.

The stricken boy, James William Orr, 14, flew here from Sao Paulo, Brazil, Aug. 11 on a plane with more than 80 other persons, including his parents and a brother and sister.

He passed through Idlewild Airport, traveled by cab to Grand Central Terminal and sat in the huge station's waiting room for 8½ hours before boarding a train for Toronto.

BOY IN HOSPITAL

In Toronto the boy, described by his missionary father as feeling "under the weather," was taken to a doctor and eventually to a Canadian hospital.

Canadian authorities said the boy's illness was virtually certain to be smallpox, although confirming tests were still to be made. U.S. Public Health Service officials said there was no doubt.

It was the first confirmed case of smallpox in the United States since 1947, they said.

STAGGERING TASK

The development left New York City with the staggering task of running down all who may have come in contact with the boy here.

The city health department set up 12 vaccination centers in Manhattan and the Bronx, while issuing a call for all those who may have come in contact with the boy to step forward without delay.

Smallpox is a highly communicable disease that can be fatal if unchecked.

While the city vaccinated more than 300 persons at its centers Sunday, the U.S. Public Health Service gave vaccinations to more than 400 others at Idlewild Airport.

SEEK CAB DRIVER

Centers in the city and at the airport were put on a round-the-clock schedule, while officials tried to hunt down the cab driver who transported the Orr family.

There are about 12,400 cabs in New York City with some 40,000 drivers.

Aerolineas Argentinas provided a passenger list of its Flight 322 from Brazil, and efforts were being made to track down each passenger. Some have scattered to far places.

More difficult still is the task of finding the boy's fellow train passengers on the trip to Canada. The father says the family remained in its coach during the journey.

Most difficult of all is the task of finding those who were in the Grand Central Terminal waiting room with the boy.

WORLD WAR I Fliers Debate Old Questions

By GENE SCHROEDER
BATTLE CREEK, Mich. (AP)—Who killed Baron Manfred von Richthofen, legendary ace of the German Imperial Air Force in World War I?

When is an ace not an ace? Bring together a group of fliers who once pitted their valor and skill against the Germans in aerial combat and those two controversial questions are bound to pop up.

MATTER OF OPINION

Like most historical disputes, the answers are a matter of opinion.

"No one will ever know for sure whether Richthofen was the victim of a young Canadian flier or whether he was brought down by ground fire," said Lt. Arthur Cunningham of New York City, who once flew a pursuit plane for the Lafayette Flying Corps.

Cunningham is one of the dwindling band of surviving Americans who fought for the French in 1914-18. A score of them were guests of honor at Battle Creek's first reunion air show Saturday and Sunday.

FAVORS OFFICIAL CLAIM

Now a spry 67, Cunningham was just out of his teens when he joined the French Foreign Legion with the intention of eventually getting off the ground in one of the rickety wood-and-canvas planes of the Air Corps.

After America entered the war, Cunningham transferred to the famed 94th American "Hat in the Ring" Squadron, later commanded by Capt. Eddie Rickenbacker.

Like most American fliers, Cunningham favors the officially recognized claim that Capt. Roy Brown, a Canadian flying with the Royal Air Force, brought Richthofen down with a burst from his machine guns.

RECORD DISPUTED

But even as Brown was firing on the tail of the German ace, four Australian machine gunners and one rifleman on the ground also were pouring hot lead at the red Fokker tri-plane.

READING, Pa. (AP) — Jacob Hartman, 31, of Kutztown R. 2, was killed Saturday when his car struck a cement truck 10 miles north of Reading. Police said the truck driver, Herbert J. Rausch, 30, was not injured.

It spun into the ground, and the career of the No. 1 ace of the war came to an abrupt end.

By the accepted standard, five kills made a flier an ace. Richthofen had 80 officially confirmed victories to his credit before he crashed.

But that claim in itself is disputed by some who fought for the Allied cause. Chief reason for the dispute lies in the method of confirming kills officially. Cunningham pointed out.

BEAUTY TO SPURN ROBES FOR CAREER

By JOHN FLYNN
LONG BEACH, Calif. (AP)—Tania Verstak, a reluctant Cinderella, is turning down a chance to wear the royal robes she won as Miss International Beauty.

She is returning to Australia to continue preparations for a career as a welfare worker—intent on helping people who, like herself, are refugees from communism.

She has declined offers of lucrative film contracts, and she does not want to tour the world as Miss International Beauty—an endeavor which earned her predecessor $25,000.

WINS $10,000

"I've got as much money as I want," she said. She won $10,000 with the title Saturday night. She said it will go into her father's building insulation business in Sydney.

Tania, 21, felt she wasn't pretty enough for the contest, which drew 50 girls from as many nations. The judges disagreed.

The hazel-eyed lovely fled from her birthplace, Tientsin, China, with her White Russian parents 10 years ago. The parents had escaped as children from Soviet communism.

PLANS REFUGEE WORK

She said she'll return home to fulfill her contract as Miss Australia. It runs until Christmas.

Miss Verstak, 21, intends to study English, Chinese and psychology to prepare for refugee work overseas. She already is fluent in English and Russian.

After completion of her tour as Miss Australia, Tania plans to return to Sydney University at night to brush up on her languages, and to help during the day in her father's business.

Next year she'll return to Long Beach to crown her successor. Then she hopes to go to Switzerland to work in refugee-aid organizations.

Predict Boost In Output Of Autos

CLEVELAND (AP)—Steel magazine says automobile manufacturers, encouraged by July sales, have increased estimates of the number of cars they will build in the fourth quarter of this year.

The trade publication reports Sunday there are good indications that at least 1.8 million cars will be built during October to December. The estimated 960,500 cars or hand at dealerships Aug. 1 amount to 47 days supply, lowest since 1957. By Oct. 1, when the 1963 models begin moving out to dealers, the magazine said the total is expected to be down to 200,000.

Auto manufacturers are the steel industry's biggest customers.
